Maybe there will be another reshuffle in the line-up of the cabinet.

This is what Bulgarian Prime Minister Boyko Borisov announced speaking in an interview bTV.

If I were in the previous mandate of the cabinet of the Citizens for European Development of Bulgaria (CEDB), when the party ruled on its own, I would have told you immediately. Now I have partners – the Reformist Bloc coalition, the Prime Minister said further.

I will first talks with them [Reformist Bloc], I will inform them about my plans for optimisation of the work, and it they agree, I will announce it. If they do not agree, the situation will remain the same, Mr Borisov added.

The latest change in the line-up of the government came after Ivaylo Kalfin resigned from the post of deputy prime minister for demographic and social policies and minister of labour and social policy, following his party ABVs decision to withdraw from the ruling majority.
