A meeting on the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict settlement in August under the mediation of Russian President Vladimir Putin is being discussed, US Ambassador to Armenia Richard Mills said at the American University of Armenia on Wednesday, Armenia news - news.am reports.

However, the precise date and place of the meeting between Armenian and Azerbaijani leaders has not been determined yet, he added.

The discussion must be held between three co-chairs of the OSCE Minsk Group and the governments of two countries to set a day for a meeting in August, said the ambassador.
