State-Owned gas supplier Bulgargaz has said it may demand in increase in the price of gas paid by its customers as of the beginning of 2017.

Nikolay Pavlov, Bulgargaz CEO, has said that the surge wanted by his company will not be significant enough to have a big impact on the prices for heating utilities and the industrial consumers.

Prices of oil and gas have recently been going up after the drop of the last few years, Pavlov has also told the Bulgarian National Radio.
