Bulgarias efforts to implement financial discipline, public finances, the reforms that were made were taken into account, " Borisov said after the meeting.

Borissov noted that the two made a good start in co-operation and trust.

I am convinced that with the help of France, with the visit of Macron in August, this is a good start and, like everything in Europe, we hope that with his youth and vigour, to pull Europe forward - strong, united and not forgetting the periphery.
