Vestnik kavkaza, 20.10.2017

Russian Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev will pay a working visit to Armenia on October 24 to discuss bilateral trade and economic cooperation with Armenian Prime Minister Karen Karapetyan and study implementation of large joint projects.

"During the negotiations, the Russian and Armenian government leaders will discuss a variety of issues on trade and economic, investment, industrial and humanitarian cooperation and study implementation of large joint projects in various areas," the Russian governments press service reported.

Interparliamentary, interagency and interregional documents on cooperation will be signed during the meeting.
