The protracted conflicts in the OSCE area continue to pose a serious threat to security, Ukrainian Foreign Minister Pavlo Klimkin said on Thursday.

Addressing the OSCE Ministerial Council in Vienna, Klimkin called for increased efforts to settle the ongoing conflicts on the territories of Azerbaijan, Georgia and Moldova.

We need to increase our efforts for peaceful resolution of the conflicts on the territories of Azerbaijan, Georgia and Moldova with full respect for their sovereignty and territorial integrity, noted Ukraine's top diplomat.
