Today, the Southern Gas Corridor, which will transport Azerbaijani gas to Europe, was officially opened, bTV reported. It is expected that the Caspian blue fuel will reach Bulgaria after 2 years.

More than 170 years ago Azerbaijan became the first country in the world to start mechanized oil production. From the time of the wooden drills to the present day, the Azeri coast has given the riches of some of the most famous families in the world - including Rothschild and Nobel.

Azerbaijan state oil company SOCAR is ready to participate in the gasification of our country.

The project is a continuation of the $ 40 billion South Gas Corridor, with annual 16 billion cubic meters of gas coming from Baku to southern Italy through Georgia, Turkey, Greece and Albania.

Today, Azerbaijan has begun the supply of gas to Turkey through the Southern GasCorridor. In just two years - in 2020, Azeri gas from the Caspian basin should reach Bulgaria by interconnector with Greece.

The gas for Turkey goes from one of the world's largest storage, transmission and processing facilities.
