Iraqi security forces' information center announced Monday the arrest of three female ISIS members in Salah al-Sin province (179 km north Baghdad), according to the DPA.

A force from the National Security Service in Salah al-Din province was able to arrest three female convicts in Huwajja district, against which legal warrants have been issued for their belonging to ISIS terrorist gangs, the center said.

It explained that the arrest operation was conducted due to intelligence information, pointing out that they were handed over to competent authorities to take the necessary legal procedures.
