
ISIS ADAPTING INTO A COVERT THREAT BEYOND IRAQ AND SYRIA

-

12.02.2019

The National (12 February 2019)

Arthur MacMillan

ISIS commanders are changing their tactics and the group remains the biggest terrorist threat facing the world despite losing its main bases in Iraq and Syria, a UN investigator warned on Monday.

Michele Coninsx, assistant secretary general in charge of counter-terrorism, said there was evidence of the insurgents finding new ways to raise money. She also said that despite a reverse in the Middle East, its global intent and network had been retained.

To read the rest of the article, please click: <https://www.thenational.ae/world/africa/isis-adapting-into-a-covert-threat-beyond-iraq-and-syria-1.824664>

Kaynak/Source: