Kabar (18 October 2019)

Kazakhstan is by far the first trade partner of the European Union (EU) in Central Asia, and the EU is Kazakhstans first trade partner globally, source in EU told Trend.

"Trade and economic relations between the EU and Kazakhstan are good and improving. The EU exported 5.8 billion euros worth of goods to Kazakhstan in 2018, and imported 20.8 billion euros worth of goods from Kazakhstan," the official said.

The official further noted that while EU exports are rather diversified, the EU imports mostly oil, gas and uranium from Kazakhstan.
