
SPAIN PASSES LAW TO KILL OFF 'ONLINE' CATALAN REPUBLIC

-

08.11.2019

EU Observer (6 November 2019)

The Spanish government can now shut down digital services without a court warrant as a "threat of public order," in a move by caretaker prime minister Pedro Sanchez which he said was aimed at heading off 'online independence' for Catalan separatists.

The main aim of the legal modification - which entered into force on Tuesday (5 November) - is to end with the digital Republic of Catalonia, according to Sánchez.

Kaynak/Source: