Before you start reading today's edition of the Capitals, we invite you to read about Europe's military mobility being the latest casualty of EU budget battle. Also, feel free to have a look at the analysis The Romanian Social Democratic Party (PSD) and the European Policies: Outlook 2020 – 2024 conducted by Dr. Vasile Pușcaș, a former Minister for European Affairs, and EU expert Dr Dan Luca.

Parliament locked out. Several MEPs were denied access to the European Council last Friday during the EU budget summit as the Council decided to abide by its stricter rules and granted only two badges per political party, according to European Parliament sources.

The fact that the Parliament only gets two badges per political group to attend EUCO summits is frankly a ridiculous way for the Council to treat its co-legislature, a Parliament source told EURACTIV.

A sign of a new power struggle between the two institutions? EURACTIV's Alexandra Brzozowski has the story.
