Former Bosnian Serb soldier Sretko Pavic was sentenced to 11 years in prison for killing of five members of a Bosniak family in a village near Prijedor during the war in 1992.

The Bosnian state courts appeals chamber found Sretko Pavic guilty of war crimes on Thursday for participating in the murders of five civilians, all members of the Causevic family, in the village of Rizvanovici near Prijedor in July 1992.
