
COVID-19 SCHOOL DILEMMA TROUBLES BALKAN, CENTRAL EUROPE GOVTS

-

11.08.2020

Balkan Insight (07 August 2020)

Nedim Dervisbegovic

Sarajevo

Preparations for the new school year are under way throughout Central and Southeast Europe, but governments across the region are still uncertain exactly how teaching will resume – at home, online, or both.

Countries in Central and Southeast Europe are preparing for the new school year as they grapple with a spike in coronavirus infections, and while some say they are ready for – almost – business as usual, others have not yet decided what teaching mode to employ as they wait for epidemiologists to show them the way.

Click for more

Kaynak/Source: