In recent days, foreign media outlets have been portraying the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict as a struggle between little Armenia fighting against Turkish jihadists."

Numerous media pundits have been pushing forward this narrative, while falsely claiming that Turkey is sending its troops and Syrian mercenaries to fight alongside Azerbaijanis. There even have been claims that Turkey stands behind the recent escalation of violence. As a member of the Defense and Security Committee of the Azerbaijani National Assembly, I must stress that such statements do not reflect the truth on the ground.
