Important developments are taking place in the Aegean (Islands) Sea and Cyprus. The main factor of this new dynamic is undoubtedly the steps taken by the Turkish side and its desire for settlement.

This new process, which began with Turkey's withdrawal of its seismic research vessel MTA Oruc Reis, has accelerated further with the latest of the exploratory meetings held in Istanbul on Jan. 25, which are normally held to make technical assessments of the problems arising from the Sea of Islands (the Aegean) and to settle on possible solutions.
