
EU AGREES TO AMBITIOUS CLIMATE GOALS AHEAD OF BIDEN SUMMIT

- 21.04.2021

Deutsche Welle (20 April 2021)

After negotiating throughout the night, EU representatives agreed to cut emissions 55% by 2030 compared to 1990 levels. But the Green bloc in the European Parliament is not happy.

The European Union aims to become climate neutral by 2050 and has now made a legal commitment to reach that goal, said European Commission head Ursula von der Leyen on Wednesday.

The deal, which still needs to be approved by the European Parliament and its member states, would also see the bloc cut emissions more steeply by 2030.
