The Kazakh capital Nur-Sultan hosted the seventh meeting of dialogue on economic and business matters between the European Union and Kazakhstan, known as Business Platform, focusing on the development of renewable energy sources, Kazakhstans transition to a low-carbon economy, and decarbonization, reports the EU Delegation to Kazakhstan press service.

The business platform complements the technical dialogue between the EU and Kazakhstan within the Enhanced Partnership and Cooperation Agreement that came into effect from March 1, 2020, and covers 29 key policy areas.

The virtual event brought together representatives of businesses and ambassadors of European countries led by the Ambassador of the EU to Kazakhstan Sven-Olov Carlsson. Visiting EU Special Representative for Central Asia Ambassador Peter Burian also attended the event.
