EurActiv (13 October 2021)

Dear Germany, please keep your nuclear reactors online, 25 leading foreign and domestic writers, journalists, and intellectuals wrote in a joint letter, warning that dropping nuclear power would only increase the countrys carbon emissions.

In the letter, published by Welt on Wednesday (13 October), the authors, including environmental columnist George Monbiot and former editor-in-chief at Die Zeit, Theo Sommer, call upon Germany to utilise nuclear power to help the country meet its climate targets.

Germany is in danger of missing its 2030 climate target, despite all its efforts, the authors wrote.
