Tajikistan has dismissed all reports of China's plans to build a special military base for the Central Asian country.

China too earlier reiterated that it has no military bases in Central Asia, according to a statement by the spokesman for China's Foreign Ministry.

China has not planned to build any military bases in the eastern part of Tajikistan reported Khaama Press citing the statement by Tajikistan's interior ministry. However, China admitted that both the countries would have "military manoeuvres" on the border of Tajikistan with Afghanistan, according to the news agency.
