Al Jazeera (13 November 2021)

US President Joe Biden will meet virtually with his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping on Monday, the White House has announced, as the leaders seek to address points of tensions, competition and potential cooperation between the two nations.

In a statement on Friday, White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki said Biden and Xi would meet on Monday evening to discuss ways to responsibly manage the competition between the countries as well as ways to work together where our interests align.

Throughout, President Biden will make clear US intentions and priorities and be clear and candid about our concerns with China, Psaki said.
