Tajikistan and Kyrgyzstan have reportedly agreed to jointly patrol a border area where several shots were fired the day before, Sputnik reported today, citing the press center of Kyrgyzstans State Committee for National Security (SCNS).

Such a decision has reportedly been made in order to ensure public order in the border area.

A meeting of heads of border districts, senior representatives of law enforcement agencies and competent bodies of the two countries took place in Tort-Kocho area in Kyrgyzstans Batken region yesterday at 11:30 pm, reads a statement released by Kyrgyzstans SCNS press center.
