Iraqi President Barham Salih on Wednesday called a rocket attack on parliament speakers home a terrorist act.

"The attack on the residence of the Speaker of Parliament in Anbar, which resulted in the injury of civilians, is a reprehensible terrorist act," Salih tweeted.

On Tuesday evening, the Iraqi army said that two civilians were injured as three Katyosha rockets targeted Anbar provinces al-Karma region where the home of Mohamed al-Halbousi is located. A security source said that the rockets landed in the area adjacent to the residence of al-Halbousi.
