French President Emmanuel Macron sent a congratulatory message to Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan on the 30th anniversary of the establishment of Armenian-French diplomatic relations and invited him to Paris.

Thanks to centuries of close friendship between the French and Armenian peoples, over the past three decades the two countries have built a strong, diverse, forward-looking partnership, Macron said.

In his congratulatory message, the French President expressed hope that political, cultural and economic contacts would continue to strengthen with the adoption of the Roadmap for Economic Cooperation, the provision of vaccines to Armenia to help fight the epidemic crisis and the establishment of the French Institute in Armenia.
