Turkish officials reiterated their willingness to further strengthen the close ties between Ankara and Baku as many dignitaries visited Azerbaijan on Saturday on the occasion of the 104th Republic Day of the southern Caucasus nation.

Speaking at the first foreign edition of the leading Turkish aviation, space and technology festival Teknofest, President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan said that the Turkish people consider Azerbaijan as their homeland, just like Anatolia or Turkey proper.

The Turkish president said that Turkey and Azerbaijan took bilateral ties to a level that is exemplary not only for the region but also for the world. "Turkey and Azerbaijan first became strategic partners, then strategic allies with the historic Shusha Declaration signed last year," Erdoğan said.
