Romania will host a Munich Leaders Meeting (MLM) session in November, ahead of the meeting of the NATO Ministers of Foreign Affairs set to take place in Bucharest the same month, the Foreign Affairs Ministry (MAE) announced.

The meeting will gather high-level officials, senior experts and analysts, who will tackle topics of interest for the regional, European, and Euro-Atlantic security. The meeting will be highly relevant in the current security context impacted by the war started by Russia against Ukraine, MAE explained in a release.
