Military personnel from Armenia take part in the courses of the Sachkhere School of Mountain Training named after Colonel Besik Kutateladze after a four-year break.

The course is held within the framework of the NATO Partnership for Peace program. In addition to the military personnel of Armenia, Georgian, American, Polish, Latvian and Lithuanian military personnel took part in it.

According to the Ministry of Defense of Georgia, the summer basic mountain training course under the NATO Partnership for Peace program will last three weeks.

The last time the Armenian side took part in such courses was in January 2018.
