Azerbaijani Deputy Foreign Minister Araz Azimov and his Russian counterpart Alexander Grushko discussed European security issues, as well as the Azerbaijani-Armenian normalization process on June 29, Azernews reports per the ministry.

The meeting took part in line with the "2021-2022 consultation plan between the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Azerbaijan and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation" signed in 2021.

As part of the next round of political consultations between the two foreign ministries, the sides exchanged views on European security, issues on the agenda of European regional organizations, and the regional security situation, the ministry said.
