Balkan Insight (9 August 2022)

Alexey Alchin, who is to be extradited from Bulgaria to Russia, says he has become an attractive target for Russian authorities.

Russian Alexey Alchin, a resident of the Bulgarian coastal city of Varna and a regular participant in demonstrations in support of Ukraine, is to be extradited to Russia to face charges of tax evasion and forgery, media reports say.

Supporters of Alchin, who runs a successful business in Russia extracting precious metals from scrap, have called for a protest in Varna on Tuesday against a ruling by the city court on August 8 that his extradition could go ahead.
