The leaders of ex-Soviet rivals Armenia and Azerbaijan agreed to meet in Brussels next Wednesday for EU-mediated talks, Armenia's government announced.

The meeting comes after a recent outbreak of fighting over the region of Nagorno-Karabakh that left at least three dead.

"Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan and Azerbaijan's President Ilham Aliyev will meet in Brussels on Aug. 31," the press service of the Armenian government told Agence France-Presse (AFP).
