Iran is ready to include Uzbekistan in the Chabahar Agreement and provide it access to the North-South Corridor, President of the Islamic Republic of Iran Ebrahim Raisi told Uzbekistan National News Agency (UzA), Trend reports.

Earlier this year, India, Afghanistan, and Iran had mutually agreed upon a set of trilateral agreements which is known as the Chabahar agreement.

The terms of the agreement would allow India access to Afghanistan via the Iranian port of Chabahar which is on the Gulf of Oman.
