
ARMENIA LAUNCHES CRIMINAL CASE OVER COMPLICITY IN CRIMEAN BRIDGE BLAST

- 14.10.2022

TASS (13 October 2022)

The decision was made after media publications to the effect the explosives used in the terrorist attack were hidden in a truck driven by an Armenian citizen who had entered Armenia from abroad and then proceeded towards Russia

Armenias National Security Service has opened a criminal case over complicity in the terrorist attack on the Crimean bridge.

"In order to verify the authenticity of information received and to clarify all the circumstances of the incident a criminal case has been initiated over complicity in international terrorism, smuggling of explosives across the EAEU border by a group of persons, as well as forgery of documents," the NSSs press-service said in a news release on Thursday.
