Kosovos special prosecutor said that former Serbian police special forces commander Goran Guri Radosavljevic is wanted for alleged involvement in the 1999 Recak/Racak massacre, in which 44 ethnic Albanians were killed.

Special prosecutor Ilir Morina told BIRN Kosovos Kallxo Pernime TV programme on Wednesday evening that the former commander of Serbian police special forces, Goran Guri Radosavljevic, is one of the suspects wanted for the Recak/Racak massacre on January 15, 1999.

As far as the Kosovo state prosecution knows, he is in Serbia, Morina said.
