Al Jazeera (31 March 2023)

Beijing has condemned Taiwan President Tsai Ing-wen's stop in the US, with a Chinese official pledging to fight back.

Taiwan's President Tsai Ing-wen has hailed the island's relations with the United States during a stopover on her way to Central America, a transit that has been condemned by Beijing.

During a closed-door speech in New York on Wednesday night, Tsai said the relationship between Washington and Taipei was closer than ever and touted significant progress in economic and security cooperation, according to a statement from her office.
