Ilias Kasidiaris, the convicted leader of the now-disbanded neo-Nazi Golden Dawn party, will attempt to run in the upcoming elections on May 21 with his own far-right political party. This means that Kasidiaris will not be running under the EAN party of Anastasios Kanellopoulos, a former assistant Supreme Court prosecutor, but rather under the National Party in Athens First Electoral District.
