The Iraqi Prime Minister, Mohammed Shia Al-Sudani, indicated on Thursday that the government will continue reforms in the Iraqi banking sector, support global trade and the private sector, and work to stop money laundering operations in compliance with international standards, according to a statement issued by the Prime Ministers press office.

Al-Sudani received a delegation from US bank, J.P. Morgan, including the Chair of the Governing Board of J.P. Morgan Development Finance Institution, Daniel Zelikow, and the Head of MENA Public Sector Group, Ghali Laraki.

The meeting addressed the support provided to the banking sector, the Central Bank of Iraq (CBI), and the private sector, the statement illustrated.
