The Egyptian President, Abdel Fattah El-Sisi, during his meeting on Tuesday with the Iraqi Prime Minister, Mohammed Shia Al-Sudani, affirmed Egypt's constant support for Iraq's security and stability.

El-Sisi emphasized that Egypt is keen to strengthen and diversify the bilateral cooperation with Iraq in various fields such as politics, economy, trade, and culture, whether at the bilateral level or through the tripartite cooperation mechanism with Jordan.

The Egyptian President valued the depth and strength of the strategic relations between the two countries.
