[Armenian residents of Karabakh] have set up a roadblock on the road connecting Karabakh to Azerbaijan to prevent the entry of vehicles from Azerbaijan. Local police confirmed on Wednesday that the road connecting the Karabakh town of Askeran and the nearby Azerbaijani town of Aghdam is closed. Signs held by protesters read Aghdam is the road of death and Charles Michel, the Aghdam road is not a humanitarian corridor.

The roadblock comes days after a tripartite meeting with Armenian and Azerbaijani leaders in Brussels, after which EU Council President Charles Michel noted Azerbaijan's willingness to provide humanitarian supplies via Aghdam to Nagorno-Karabakh.
