The thirty-year occupation is also a bitter consequence of the tragedies committed in the Garabagh region of Azerbaijan. Behind these three decades there are dozens of tragedies, murders and war crimes. Meshali tragedy has been recorded in history as one of those events.

The village of Meshali, once located in the heart of the mountains with its charming nature, ice springs, green and deep forests has been completely erased from the face of the earth today. On December 23, 1991, at around 7 o'clock in the morning, Armenian terrorist groups surrounded the village, brutally murdered the local villagers, burned and looted every last house. Since there was a huge loss of life that morning, the incident was written down in history under the name of the village - Meshali tragedy.
