Baku emphasizes importance of cooperation aimed at assessing damage to environment in its pleas to Council of Europe and Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development

Azerbaijan on Tuesday asked international organizations to settle ecological disputes with Armenia, urging them to press Yerevan to comply with the UN Convention on the Protection of Transboundary Watercourses and International Lakes.

In its pleas to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) and the Council of Europe, Azerbaijan's Prosecutor General's Office in a statement stressed the importance of collaboration with the country's competent authorities in determining environmental damage.
