Azerbaijani military and Russian soldiers are working to disarm Armenian separatists, while Baku sent fuel to the Armenian residents in the Karabakh region on Saturday.

"We are in close cooperation with the Russian peacekeepers, conducting the demilitarization" of the separatists, Azerbaijani army spokesperson Anar Eyvazov told reporters in Shusha.

"We have already seized weapons and ammunition," Eyvazov added three days after Azerbaijan staged a lightning offensive into the enclave, forcing the separatists to sue for peace and agree to disarm.
