During Wang Yis visit, both sides emphasized the importance of dialogue, but were tight-lipped on what, exactly, was being discussed.

Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi is in the United States from October 26 to 28, his first trip to the U.S. capital in over five years. While in Washington, Wang held meetings with U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken, as well as National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan (Wangs counterpart in his other capacity: the chief of the Chinese Communist Partys Central Foreign Affairs Office).
