BOSNIA'S SERB ENTITY EYES SEPARATE ELECTIONS, DEEPENING FRAGILE PEACE

- 05.01.2024

TRT World (4 January 2024)

The law is already ready and will soon be proposed to the entity's parliament for adoption "through an accelerated procedure," says the region's controversial leader Milorad Dodik.

Bosnia's Serb entity is on course to organise its own elections under its own rules, the region's controversial leader Milorad Dodik has said, in his latest blow against Bosnia and Herzegovina's (BiH) central government.

The leader of the Republika Srpska (RS) has been pushing for greater autonomy from the Balkan country's central institutions, amid ethnic fault lines that endure nearly three decades after the 1992-1995 war.
