The vessel Baghdad, loaded with 10 million liters of fuel, arrived on Monday in Palestine through Egypt's Suez Canal.

The delivery of the fuel, which Iraq sent to the Palestinians besieged in Gaza, took place in the presence of the president of the Iraqi Red Crescent Society (IRCS), Yassin Al-Mamouri, and the Undersecretary of the Ministry of Commerce, Sattar Al-Jabri, according to the Iraqi News Agency (INA).

The Iraqi government announced in late December that it sent a fuel tanker to Egypt to provide relief to the Palestinians besieged in the Gaza Strip.
