Iraq has submitted a request to host the 2025 Arab League summit in the capital, Baghdad.

The spokesperson of the Iraqi government, Basem Al-Awadi, said in a statement that the Iraqi government is preparing to host the Arab League summit in 2025 by rehabilitating the states basic infrastructure in order to be able to hold significant and major regional and international events.

Al-Awadi clarified that Iraq missed several opportunities to play a significant and impactful role internationally because of the isolation it suffered under a dictatorial regime and the war against terrorism.
