The Iraq Securities Commission (ISC) announced on Tuesday that it had signed a joint cooperation agreement with the British Chartered Institute for Securities and Investment (CISI).

The Deputy Chairman of ISC, Nagham Hussein, told Shafaq News that the agreement sets a framework for cooperation and information exchange on financial training programs for securities and services to develop and maintain capabilities.

Hussein explained that the terms of the agreement include training courses for ISC employees to learn from the experiences of financial markets in countries around the world.
