France incites Armenia to a new war, the Head of Azerbaijani State Security Service, Colonel General Ali Naghiyev said in an article published in the local "Respublika" newspaper, Trend reports.

"France, unable to reconcile with the realities created by Azerbaijan in the region, and instead of supporting peace in the region, provides Armenia, which has kept Azerbaijani lands under occupation for about 30 years and committed genocide against the Azerbaijani people, with ammunition and establishing its military mission there, promotes revanchist feelings, and tries to realize its plan to turn the South Caucasus into a battlefield again," the article reads.

"Even after accomplishing all of this, it still acts against Azerbaijan's national security by creating a spy network and enlisting a variety of people in covert cooperation through agents of its special services body.
