Türkiye and Iraq signed a total of 26 agreements and memoranda of understanding during Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan's recent visit to the neighboring country's capital Baghdad, according to the Communications Directorate in Ankara.

Erdogan on Monday visited Baghdad and Erbil, the capital of the Kurdish Regional Government (KRG) in northern Iraq, on Monday on his first visit to Iraq in 13 years. He held talks on bilateral relations, counter-terrorism, and regional issues with Iraqi officials, including Israel's ongoing offensive in the Gaza Strip.
