BBC News (28 June 2024)

Georgia's path to EU membership is being blocked by the passing of a controversial foreign influence law, European leaders have said at a summit in Brussels.

The passing of the law represented "backsliding" on steps laid out to enable the country to join the bloc.

"The European Council calls on Georgias authorities to clarify their intentions by reversing the current course of action which jeopardises Georgias EU path," the leaders said in a document released on Thursday.
