Azerbaijans leadership continues to demand that Armenia not only change its constitution, but remove Armenias Declaration reference, deeming that as the only obstacle in the signing of a peace treaty between the two countries.

That document contains territorial claims from Azerbaijan, Elchin Amirbekov, a special advisor to Azerbaijan's president told RFE/RLs regional correspondent Joshua Kucera in an interview published on Tuesday.

We would like to be certain that a peace treaty with Armenia will make a return to revanchism or territorial demands from Azerbaijan impossible, Amirbekov added.
